The Problem

Every year, thousands of students, young families and newcomers in Andijan face the same struggle: finding a safe, affordable place to live. Today this search happens through scattered word-of-mouth, unreliable Telegram groups, and brokers who often charge hidden commission fees. There is no easy way to verify who actually owns a listing, no simple way to filter housing by what a student really needs (price, location, room type), and no direct line of contact with the property owner. This makes the search slow, expensive, and risky — and it leaves honest property owners without a real digital channel to reach tenants.

Our Solution

Aparty is a dedicated online platform that connects tenants directly with ID-verified property owners in Andijan — with no commission fees for students and families. Instead of scrolling through disconnected group chats or paying a broker, users can search listings with the help of AI-powered matching, chat directly with the owner, and rent with confidence. Owners get a simple way to list their property and reach thousands of tenants for free, while real estate agents who manage larger property portfolios can use premium subscription tools to list and manage more listings. In short, Aparty acts as a trusted, modern bridge between tenants and owners.

Who It's For

- Students & Young Families — searching for safe, affordable, commission-free housing.
- Property Owners — who want a free, simple way to list and rent out their properties.
- Real Estate Agents (Maklers) — who manage multiple listings and want more reach.
- Administrators — who keep the platform trustworthy by verifying users and moderating listings.

Why It Matters

Aparty turns a stressful, expensive, and unreliable process into a fast, transparent, and free experience for tenants. Students and families save time and money, owners gain a real digital presence and verified tenants, and the whole housing search becomes trustworthy through verification and direct communication. Our goal is to become the go-to housing platform for Andijan, starting with our own university community and growing from there.
